MTR's Rail Business Asset Management System

Monday 18th July 2005

Mr. C. K. Chan is currently Technical Support & Planning Manager (Rolling Stock) of the Rolling Stock Maintenance Department of the MTR Corporation.

City Metro Systems represent investments of high worth by governments to support the efficiency and vitality of cities. Railways are a capital intensive business typified by significant financial allocation for assets entrusted to organisations to maintain their worth for extraordinarily long periods of time.

This presentation presents the methodology developed by the Mass Transit Railway Hong Kong to maximize asset worth and to minimize the capital and operational funds required to deliver world class services to the city and the travelling public.

Mr. C, K. Chan is an experienced manager with 20 years experience in design, specification, project management, technical support and maintenance of railway systems.

Venue : 9/F Staff Restaurant, City University, Kowloon Tong

Date : Monday 18th July 2005

Time : 6:00 pm for a prompt start at 6:30 pm
